1. Admissions Policy Statement

1.1. London Contemporary Dance School Admissions Policy Statement

London Contemporary Dance School (LCDS) has an international reputation for high quality delivery in contemporary dance and exists to train artists who will match the world's best and, on entering their professions, shape the future of dance.

London Contemporary Dance School is part of The Place and is a registered Higher Education Provider with the Office for Students (OfS). Its policies and procedures are aligned with the Office for Students Conditions of Registration, the Quality Assurance Agency (QAA) expectations for standards and quality, as set out in the revised Quality Code (March 2018), and the Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education (OIAHE or OIA) Good Practice Frameworks.

For students starting their studies at LCDS in 2023/24, courses validated by University of the Arts London (UAL), the degree-awarding body for students who graduate from the LCDS.

1.2. General Expectations

London Contemporary Dance School select students with the greatest potential and aptitude for training, underpinned by a commitment to widening participation and to promoting courses to young people who are less likely to participate in higher education.

This policy relates to all undergraduate and postgraduate courses offered at London Contemporary Dance School. Details of courses currently on offer can be accessed from the following link.

1.3. Equality and Diversity

Celebrating diversity and working to achieve the creative potential in all our students is at the heart of the work of London Contemporary Dance School. We are committed to selecting, training and supporting students, regardless of ethnicity, gender, disability, age, sexual orientation or religion.

Applicants to London Contemporary Dance School are chosen solely based on their potential to develop the skills required to forge their individual artistic voice. We do, however, judge applicants on their suitability for a course and their potential to successfully complete the training programme, as the physical demands are rigorous and require high levels of energy and commitment.

In our admissions processes, we are committed to supporting disabled students. Disabled students are encouraged to disclose their support requirements so that we can endeavour to meet these during the application process and subsequent training.

We recognise that everyone is an individual and we will work with students to identify potential barriers to training and do what we can to remove those barriers. LCDS has a Framework for Contextual Admissions which sets out our values and principles that we apply during the admissions process to identify, acknowledge, and mitigate barriers and disadvantages that applicants may not only face at the time they apply to us, and subsequently, to ensure that when studying at LCDS students can have the appropriate support to reach their fullest potential. We will also make any necessary reasonable adjustments, in accordance with the Equality Act (2010), to ensure that disabled students can train at LCDS.

As part of its statutory monitoring, London Contemporary Dance School collects Equality and Diversity information from applicants. This information is considered as confidential and is used for statistical purposes only.

1.4. Applicants and Students under 18 years of age

London Contemporary Dance School is committed to ensuring the safety of all students, including supporting health and well-being. Applicants who are under 18 should be aware that they are applying to study in an adult environment and there may be a small number of limitations for them at the while they are under 18. More information for students under 18 years of age can be found in the Under 18s Policy.

1.5. Data Protection

Data protection legislation (GDPR and Data Protection Act 2018) places a responsibility on LCDS to control the processing of personal data, including sensitive personal data of all our staff, students and applicants. The categories of personal data that we hold, the purposes for which we process them and the identities of those to whom we may disclose them to are set out in the LCDS Student Privacy Policy.

We will use an applicant's personal data in accordance with our Privacy Policy. We will not discuss an application to anyone other than the applicant, including family members, unless they have provided written permission for us to do so. We will not share an applicant's data with a third party, unless necessary for another lawful purpose under GDPR. For example, this may include to comply with a legal obligation or to use anonymised data to make required returns to external bodies including Office for Students.

4.2. Medical Questionnaire

LCDS requires students enrolling on to the BA (Hons) Contemporary Dance Course to complete a Medical Questionnaire, which will be sent to them after successful application and being sent an offer of study. Access to this data is restricted to the Physical Support Team and Mental Health Advisor to ensure medical confidentiality and is used solely for the appropriate healthcare management of each respective student. The selection panels involved in the application process do not have access to medical information when reaching their decision. Teaching faculty do not have access to medical information, unless the student provides a written request and consent to share.

4.3. General information on application and selection

London Contemporary Dance School will seek to ensure that selection policies and procedures are transparent, effective, consistent and fair, and in accordance with the London Contemporary Dance School's public sector equality duty. Information concerning applicants is subject to both London Contemporary Dance School's data protection policies and processes.

Applicants who have previously completed a course of study at The Place or London Contemporary Dance School are not automatically guaranteed entry to any other course of study at the school.

4.4. How applicants are selected

Selection for all courses will normally be through live admissions workshops (in person or online), online submission of portfolios, video tasks, or interview. Admissions Workshops and interviews are designed to ensure that places are offered to those candidates who have the greatest potential to develop and succeed in their chosen careers regardless of previous experience, cultural or socio/economic background.

To ensure equality of opportunity London Contemporary Dance School will:

Applicants may be contacted to discuss their application prior to the panel reviewing their video application or portfolio.

LCDS encourages disclosure in advance wherever possible, but applicants can also disclose a disability or condition at any stage of the application process.

LCDS also encourages applicants to disclose any previous or current injuries to ensure that they can be supported during the application process and potential further training.

4.5. Application fees

There is no application fee for applicants applying for any of the courses of higher education at London Contemporary Dance School.

4.6. Additional support for Care Leavers and Estranged Students

London Contemporary Dance is committed to helping all students fulfil their potential whilst studying with us, regardless of background. If applicants are in care, have left recently, or are estranged from their parents, we understand that they may have some extra practical considerations to take into account when making the progression to Higher Education, and may have concerns about accommodation, financing their studies, and pastoral support. We have strong traditions of providing student care and support services and commit considerable resources to this purpose.

4.6.1. Bursary for care leavers and estranged students

If an applicant chooses to let us know that they are a care leaver or estranged from their parents, we will be able to offer them additional support, and they may be eligible to receive a non-repayable bursary of up to £1,000 per year of study. They will have a chance to disclose at application stage, and again on the enrolment form. Students can also talk to a member of staff at any point during the academic year. Further information can be found on The Place website.

4.7. Applicants with a criminal record

In line with London Contemporary Dance School's commitment to removing unnecessary barriers and increasing accessibility, many applications to a course of study at LCDS do not require any disclosure of a criminal record. All criminal records data will be processed in accordance with the LCDS Criminal Records Policy and the LCDS Privacy Notice. Some courses of study may offer placements or other professional course-related experiences that involve 'regulated activity'¹ which require students to undergo a criminal records check ('enhanced DBS check') before they can be authorised to participate in such activities. Where a course of study involves 'regulated activity' either as a requirement, or as an optional part of a course, this will be listed in the relevant Course Summary document.

Where such activities are a requirement of the course, LCDS will require an enhanced DBS check for disclosure of a criminal record at the point of receipt of an offer of a place to study, before LCDS can confirm the offer of a place. Where such activities are an optional part of the course, an applicant will not be required to disclose a criminal record/undertake an enhanced DBS check at any point during the application and admissions process. Once enrolled on the course, students may elect not to undertake an enhanced DBS check and not participate in the optional activities.

4.8. Application Procedures

Each course of study has its own application procedures (e.g. the dates of admissions workshops both online and in-person). Deadlines for making an application to study on a course of higher education at LCDS are published on the website.

4.9. Late applications

Applications submitted after the application deadline may not be considered and will only be considered at the discretion of the course leaders and admissions team. LCDS reserves the right to extend an application deadline where deemed appropriate.

4.10. Withdrawals prior to attending an admissions workshop or interview

Applicants must inform LCDS if they decide to withdraw their application and do not intend to attend an admissions workshop or interview. Any applicant who wishes to be considered for the next round of admissions must reapply the following year.

4.11. Selection procedure

A fundamental part of the application process to a course of higher education at LCDS is via an admissions workshop or portfolio along with other requirements specific to individual courses. Details of application procedures, together with entry requirements to relevant courses, can be found on our website.

For our BA(Hons) Contemporary Dance course, we occasionally hold admissions workshops in other countries. Applicants should check the website for details of dates and locations. LCDS may variously offer online or in-person admissions workshops / interviews. Where circumstances occur that prevent an admissions workshop / interview in-person from being held where it had been previously advertised as such, alternative arrangements will be made (which may include, but not be limited to, holding an admissions workshop, and /or interview online, or other admissions process that will assist the LCDS Admissions team in reaching a decision on an application). Applicants are advised to check the website for further information.

4.12. Accreditation of Prior (Experiential) Learning (APL)

If applicants have completed prior qualifications or training where the award obtained is equivalent to the entry requirements, then Accreditation of Prior Learning (APL) may be considered. Where applicants have equivalent skills, knowledge and abilities gained through life or work experience then Accreditation of Prior Experiential Learning (AP(E)L) may be considered.

For applicants for the BA(Hons) Contemporary Dance course, and are offered a place to study on the course, and believe they have the appropriate credits / qualifications and experience to start the course at a point later than the start of the planned course of study, they may wish to be considered for admission with Academic Credit. The validating university, UAL, provide guidance on Accreditation of Prior Learning to help you decide whether or not to proceed with your application.

4.13. Unsuccessful applications

Due to the large numbers of applicants it is usually not possible to provide feedback. Applicants should check in advance with the Admissions and Registry Manager whether feedback may be provided for the course they have applied to.

4.14. Confirmation of offer

Where an applicant is made an offer of a place to study at London Contemporary Dance School, conclusion of the application process follows the 3-step process below:

Step 1: Offer of a place to study is made by LCDS via email to the applicant, including the following pre-contract information:

- d) Relevant Course Summary Document

Step 2: Applicant must confirm acceptance of the offer in writing to LCDS;

Step 3: LCDS provides a receipt of formal acceptance to confirm the place.

Please note that an offer of a place to study on a course remains provisional until LCDS has confirmed the offer in writing (step 3, above).

4.15. Right to cancel a confirmed offer

In accordance with the Terms and Conditions issued as part of the pre-contract information, when LCDS makes a formal offer to an applicant of a place to study, applicants have the right to cancel within 14 days of formally accepting an offer of a place (please see London Contemporary Dance School Terms and Conditions for more detailed information).

4.16. Deferred admissions

An offer of a place to study on an LCDS course of higher education will normally only be applicable for the next available course start date. 4.17. Communications with a third party

All communications regarding an application outcome will normally be conducted directly with the applicant and not with a third party, including relatives. An exception to this will be where an applicant is under 18 years of age at the time of commencing the course. Where an applicant is under 18 years of age at the time they commence the course of higher education and the contract with LCDS, communication regarding an application outcome will, where necessary and appropriate, be communicated to the applicant's parent, guardian, or a named responsible adult, in line with the applicant's circumstances.

4.18. Complaints and Appeals

For information about submitting a complaint or an appeal regarding the admissions process, please refer to the London Contemporary Dance Schools Admissions Appeals and Complaints Policy. For any questions regarding this policy and its procedures, please contact admissions@theplace.org.uk.

4.19. False, fraudulent or misleading information provided by applicants

London Contemporary Dance School reserves the right to refuse admission to a course or, if already registered, terminate registration if information provided by an applicant is fraudulent, inaccurate or incomplete. LCDS expects that all information provided to it by applicants will be complete, true and accurate, with no misleading omissions or inaccuracies. Any submission of fraudulent, inaccurate or misleading information on the application, or the omission of relevant information, will result in the immediate cancellation of the application and (where applicable) the withdrawal of any offer made. Where information comes to light that an application may contain false, fraudulent or misleading information from a successful applicant who has already registered as a student on a course of study at LCDS, the student's registration may be terminated and student status withdrawn, or the student may be subject to disciplinary action under the Non-Academic Misconduct policy and procedures.

5 Registration and Enrolment
